

DEMOCRATS MAKE EXPENSE REPORT

$926,208 of $1,065,654 Received by Party Since June 1 Spent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Campaign expenditures of $926,208 were reported today by the democratic national committee with total receipts of $1,065,654.

The republican national committee on Saturday reported disbursements of $1,454,179, and receipts of $1,554,817. The democratic report covered the period from June 1 to October 22 and the republican accounting ran from June 1 to October 26.

Both reports were filed with South Trimble, clerk of the house, in accordance with the corrupt practices law. This calls for additional accounting as of November 3 to be filed between that day and the election on November 8.

Contributions received by the democratic committee totaled $780,329, of which $681,836 came after September 1. Disbursements between September 1 and October 22 amounted to $805,290, with receipts totaling $829,964. This included $85,000 borrowed and $25,441 from sale of Roosevelt-Garner medallions.

Raskob Still Unpaid.
Unpaid obligations October 22 totaled $324,232, including $115,250 due John J. Raskob, and $200,000 owed the County Trust Company of New York, for the 1928 Smith campaign. Unpaid victory pledges to the committee amounted to $70,087.

From June 1 to September 1, the democratic committee expended $209,948, while contributions totaled $117,493. There was a balance of $107,627 and miscellaneous receipts amounting to $10,549, giving a total of $223,676 on the credit side of the ledger.

Contributions of $100 each and over in September and October 22 totaled $614,141 and those less than $100 each $200,000.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's western and southern campaign cost approximately $30,000, although the report said receipts and expenditures were not sufficiently compiled to give exact figures.

Bernard M. Baruch, of New York, was listed as the heaviest individual contributor, with $45,000, including $5,000 to be paid on notes held by former Chairman Raskob. H. H. Woodin, of New York, and former Senator Peter Gerry, of Rhode Island, each gave $20,000.

Major Contributors.
Other prominent contributors included: John W. Davis, of New York, the 1924 democratic presidential nominee, $30,000; James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, $10,000; John J. Raskob, $10,000; Charles H. Clegg, of Chicago, $10,000; H. C. Cough, of New York, $10,000; Vincent Astor, New York, $10,000; Joseph P. Kennedy, of New York, $10,000; Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, New York, $10,000; Daniel C. Roper, Washington, D. C., former national revenue collector, $10,000; Joseph P. Tumulty, Washington, D. C., who was secretary to President Wilson, $10,000; George B. Foxworth, New York, $10,000; and the Chicago citizens' committee, $18,000.

PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE REPORTS EXPENDITURES.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The National Progressive League for Franklin D. Roosevelt today reported it had expended $7,202 between September 5 and October 24 in the presidential campaign.

The report was filed by Henry F. Quinn, of Washington, assistant treasurer. Donald R. Rieberg, of Chicago, is chairman of the league. Contributions amounting to $3,434 were listed. Of this, $3,000 came from the democratic national committee.

The organization also said it had borrowed $8,000, and had unpaid obligations amounting to $7,250, on October 24 it had $22,321.

Russell Urges Support.
Impetus was added to the canvass of state capital workers Monday when Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. urged all state employees to give as liberally as possible to meet the need which he described as the most acute in recent years.

"The person," he said, "who holds a job is, indeed, fortunate and should respond to the needs of his less fortunate fellow citizens."

"Though the federal government has taken cognizance of the great need for direct relief, the appropriation of federal funds is contingent upon the community itself doing its part in raising funds."

Arthur S. Bird, chairman of the campaign, presided at the Monday night meeting. He urged workers on to greater efforts so that the goal for $100,000, for both the Chest and emergency relief, may be reached.

FARLEY CHARGES G. O. P. 'EXTORTION'

Contributions Solicited From Government Employees, Says Chairman.

ROOSEVELT, RASKOB PLAN N. Y. SPEECHES
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—An additional New York speech by Governor Roosevelt and a campaign address by John J. Raskob, former democratic national chairman, were announced at a demonstration in New York today.

Governor Roosevelt already was scheduled to appear at rallies in Brooklyn Friday night and at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

His additional appearance here will be under the auspices of the Republican for Roosevelt League, headed by Richard Washburn Child, at the Metropolitan Opera House Thursday night.

The day of what will be Raskob's only address of the campaign has not been determined.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—James A. Farley, democratic national chairman, issued a formal statement at his headquarters tonight in which he said "republican organizations have been solicited contributions from government employees in absolute violation of a federal law."

"That the republican national organization is party to the proposed illegal extortion," the statement continued, "is indicated by the circumstance that the republican national committee is to share 50-50 in each contribution."

The statement quoted a letter addressed to a federal employee and signed with the name of "James F. Dewey, treasurer, republican state committee of Vermont."

Farley held the original letter in his hand, he said, as he gave out his statement.

The letter, as quoted by Farley, read: "An unusual situation confronts the republican party this year. You hold a position under this party."

Effect of New Bridge Laws Analyzed by Ely Culbertson

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Effective November 1, 1932, more than 30,000,000 bridge players in America, and throughout the world, will swing from the old laws and scoring in contract to the new international code. To American bridge players this event is second only to presidential elections in interest and its effect upon the American home life might easily be even more far-reaching. Tomorrow, many a bridge player will pick up his cards and find himself playing under a new set of rules.

To a student of sociology, the picture of a human race turning around simultaneously, almost at a single moment, is highly significant of our modern mass organization. It is to train a company of soldiers to train correctly right or left, or to train a company of chorus girls to dance in synchronism, the magnitude of the task in teaching millions to change their habits in an intellectual game like contract bridge is not difficult to appreciate. There is no doubt that the new international code will be adopted almost unanimously—except for the few who pick up their cards and find themselves playing under a new set of rules.

Effect on Play.
To what extent will this new scoring table affect the methods of bidding and play in various systems, and particularly in the Culbertson system? There are not enough differences between the two scoring systems to warrant any radical change in the methods of bidding and play used, although the number of minor adjustments will be required. For instance, in the Culbertson system, a grand slam bid was excluded, except with the 4-4-4-4 down hand, because the premium of 1,000 points not vulnerable and 1,500 points vulnerable could seldom justify the gamble. With the new scoring, a grand slam bid is no longer excluded, but the premium is now 1,500 points not vulnerable and 2,250 points vulnerable, respectively, grand slam bids should be bid more often.

Under the new scoring, a two-trick set to stop a part-score by opponents, was punished by 200 points, which in most cases is a justifiable sacrifice. Under the new scoring, the penalty of two tricks doubled, not vulnerable, is 250 points, which is a bit too much. Consequently, overbidding to stop part-score should be tightened up. In the Culbertson system, a grand slam bid was excluded, except with the 4-4-4-4 down hand, because the premium of 1,000 points not vulnerable and 1,500 points vulnerable could seldom justify the gamble. With the new scoring, a grand slam bid is no longer excluded, but the premium is now 1,500 points not vulnerable and 2,250 points vulnerable, respectively, grand slam bids should be bid more often.

There are several other minor adaptations in the Culbertson method of bidding, which have already been made to meet the new scoring conditions. All in all, however, no radical changes will be required.

This is the first international code in bridge history. For many years the traditional law-giving body for American players was the Whist Club of which Charles M. Schwab, an enthusiastic bridge player himself, is the president. The Portland Club, of London, and the English Bridge Union, of London, are the joint committees which ought to be highly commended for presenting to the public a code of laws for gentlemen.

HOOVER ACCUSED AS 'TRUST' FRIEND

Norris Declares President
Has Abused Appointive
Power in Office.

SEATTLE, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Charging President Hoover has used his appointive powers "to serve the interests of the power trust," Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, urged the election of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to the presidency in an address here tonight.

Senator Norris contrasted the public records of President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt on the power question and asserted the "contest is between monopoly and the people."

"The record proves that President Hoover has used the appointive power of his great office to serve the interests of the power trust," Senator Norris said, "while Governor Roosevelt, in his appointments in New York state, has selected men who could be relied upon to protect the public from the power trust."

Senator Norris said "there is no doubt but that President Hoover approaches this question from the standpoint of the millionaire, from the standpoint of the man who floats securities and sells securities based on water to an unsuspecting public."

"That was his principal occupation in life. He thinks—undoubtedly honestly so—that it is better for civilization

Chief Poole Writes True Detective Story

Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole Monday blossomed forth as an author.

The chief, with Bert Collier, an Atlanta newspaperman, has a story in the new issue of "Startling Detective Adventures." In it he relates the story of the burning of the Fairburn bank about 13 years ago by William Green, a vice president of the bank.

Chief Poole's story deals with the hunt for alleged bandits Green and his associates, who were later found in the bank, and later how a confession that he burned the institution himself was obtained from the bank.

Green, who subsequently served a term in prison, returned to Fairburn and at the time of his death again had won the respect and friendship of the people of the community.

tion that a few men should control the financial matters of the world than that prosperity should be divided among the people generally.

"This was all expressed by him long before he became a candidate for the presidency, long before he knew or even thought that he would ever return to his native land. While he was engaged in the selling of stocks and bonds to the investing public he wrote a letter in defense of the system in which he said: 'From an economic point of view this eight hundred thousand pounds of capital in the hands of insiders are often invested for more productive purposes than if it had remained in the hands of the idiots who parted with it.'"

"This is the key to Mr. Hoover's economic relief."

PAUL MADDOX URGES
AID FOR CITY'S NEEDY

Paul C. Maddox, realtor, says that persons who themselves are fortunate and have no business to carry other than their own should feel it a privilege to come to the aid of the needy people of Atlanta.

"Those who through good fortune have escaped the lot of the needy should feel enough gratitude to help their less fortunate fellow-men," Mr. Maddox said.

"Making a contribution is really a little thing to do compared with the work that goes into the application of the money given. The Community Chest is admirably equipped for this work. It has the trained personnel so necessary for this sort of activity."

"These workers know who the needy are and who are deserving. They plan not only for the immediate material relief of a family, but also work toward its rehabilitation and permanent betterment."

"The Chest is worthy of support and at no time in Atlanta's history has there been greater need for its help."

Subscribers Tell of Delight Found in Lucky Star Game

BY THE LUCKY STAR EDITOR.

Subscribers continue to write me and tell how interesting and profitable they find the new Lucky Star Game, and how they are thrilled at the thought of winning $1,500 and a new Chevrolet sedan. Two of these letters appear below.

There is still ample time left for those who want to enter the contest and make themselves eligible for one of the prizes. Those who have not already registered should do so at once. I shall be glad to answer any inquiries about this fascinating game.

One contestant writes as follows: "One enters your Lucky Star Game without at first realizing its possibilities. He soon finds it a most fascinating diversion. The word chasing is a splendid exercise in cultivating a knowledge of spelling, grammar and the meaning of words which amply compensates for the time spent on it. You are to be congratulated on the ingenious list of words which makes the sport so entertaining."

Another writes: "I want to thank you for the most interesting contest I've worked on—and I take them all in. I was about to pass this one up but I couldn't resist the word list idea. It gives the contestant an equal chance with his competitors. Inclosed please find my subscription to qualify my entry."

Seldom has such an opportunity been presented to the public as this by The Constitution. Not only is an enjoyable pastime afforded for the whole family, but it is possible for someone to win a tempting reward.

Those who are not already familiar with this contest should see the questions and answers column contained on another page of this issue. This column will give detailed information.

Everyone has the same chance as everybody else and the requirements are the same for everyone. If anyone is interested in having $1,500 in their purse and a brand-new Chevrolet de luxe sedan to ride in, it is possible for them to have this by making the proper effort now. All that is necessary to get started is to mail the coupon and a free word list will be sent by return mail, together with complete instructions and rules—in fact, everything necessary to win in the Lucky Star Game. You may be the lucky person, so do not delay!

W. E. LOMAX, PRINTER, PASSES AT HOSPITAL

66-Year-Old Atlantan Was Active in Work of Typographical Union Here.

W. E. Lomax, for many years the owner of the Liberty Press and a former member of the composing room force of The Constitution, died Monday afternoon at a private hospital of pneumonia. Mr. Lomax, who was 66 years of age, had been in failing health for more than a year. He resided at 2299 Cottage Grove, S. E.

Born in Union Springs, Ala., Mr. Lomax came to Atlanta 38 years ago and for seven years was superintendent of the Index Printing Company, later being associated with Foote & Davies for seven years. He had worked on all three Atlanta daily newspapers and at two different times had been connected with The Constitution. He was active in the Atlanta Typographical Union, No. 48, and members of that organization will form an honorary escort at his funeral.

Services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, Dr. W. H. Knight, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, of which Mr. Lomax was an active member, and the Rev. J. I. Oxford will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. W. D. Langley and Mrs. C. O. Estes, of Atlanta, and the following grandchildren: Misses Laura, Dorothy and Mary Langley, Everett Langley, Carroll Dean Estes and Claude O. Estes Jr.

Bank Bandits Shoot Officer, Take $40,000

MONROE, Mich., Oct. 31.—(AP)—Six bandits held up the First National Bank of Monroe today and escaped with between $35,000 and $40,000 after shooting a policeman in the head and arm. The officer was William Lynch, who met the bandits as they were leaving the bank.

All Borders Watched For Bootleg Gasoline

Not only the Georgia-Florida line but all borders of the state are being guarded against incoming shipments of bootleg gasoline, Comptroller General William B. Harrison stated Monday in discussing the joint campaign being waged by him and the state highway department to reduce such shipments to a minimum. Comptroller General Harrison pointed out that the $100,000 already netted included funds turned in by the Florida law patrol and the patrols working along the Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina borders.

O. H. PENDLEY ATTENDS VIRGINIA POLICE CLASS

O. H. Pendley, secretary of the police committee and secretary to Chief T. O. Sturdivant, returned to Atlanta Monday after spending a week in Richmond, Va., where he attended a school for Virginia police officers, which was sponsored by the Virginia

League of Municipalities and the Virginia Peace Officers' Association. Methods of detecting crime as taught by Albert B. Moore, of the New York department of police, will be used by Mr. Pendley in a series of lectures in the police school of the Atlanta department, which is to begin in two weeks. Mr. Moore, who has studied the methods of three countries, conducted the school in Richmond, Mr. Pendley said. Classes in the fundamentals of policing will be given here once a week at first and later at more frequent intervals, he said.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made
At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. —(adv.)

lege to come to the aid of the needy people of Atlanta.

"Those who through good fortune have escaped the lot of the needy should feel enough gratitude to help their less fortunate fellow-men," Mr. Maddox said.

"Making a contribution is really a little thing to do compared with the work that goes into the application of the money given. The Community Chest is admirably equipped for this work. It has the trained personnel so necessary for this sort of activity."

"These workers know who the needy are and who are deserving. They plan not only for the immediate material relief of a family, but also work toward its rehabilitation and permanent betterment."

"The Chest is worthy of support and at no time in Atlanta's history has there been greater need for its help."

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE SEA WOLF
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, N. C. Wyeth... inspired by the infamous Captain Kidd's fierce raids on the gold-laden Spanish galleons (1696), which made him the scourge of the Spanish Main. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTES
"IT'S TOASTED"
WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Text of Governor Roosevelt's Address at Boston

BOSTON ARENA, BOSTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Following is the text of Franklin D. Roosevelt's address to-night in Boston:

This trip to New England, I assure you, has brought back many happy memories. I have met a multitude of old friends with whom I have been associated in public life for more than 20 years.

If I were to start referring to each of them by name, I should have to call the roll of Massachusetts democracy. All I can say is that I appreciate the fact that, today, a week before election, we have a united party—party which will be supported by free-spirited republican and independent voters, in securing a great victory on November 8.

And other memories have come from far back beyond my earliest political experience. As a boy I came to this state for education. To that education I look back with open and sincere pride and gratitude.

Then I came and lived at a great institution for the freeing of the human mind from ignorance, from bigotry of the mind and the spirit. Knowledge—that is, education in its true sense—is our best protective against unreasoning prejudice and fanaticism, whether engendered by special interests, illiberal minorities or panic-stricken leaders who seek to perpetuate the power which they have misused.

REASON AND TOLERANCE APPROPRIATE IN CAMPAIGN.

I hope I have learned the lesson that reason and tolerance have their place in all things, and I want to say frankly that they are never so appropriate as when they prevail in a political campaign.

I say this with some feeling because I express widespread opinion when I note that the dignity of the office of president has suffered during the past week. The president began this campaign with the same attitude with which he has approached so many of the serious problems of the past three years. He sought to create the impression that there was no campaign, just as he had sought to create the impression that all was well with the United States.

But the people of the country spoiled these plans. They demanded that the administration which they placed in power four years ago, and which has cost them so much, give an accounting. They demanded this accounting in no uncertain terms. This demand of the people has continued until it has become an overwhelming, irresistible drift of public opinion.

As this storm of approval for the democratic policies has gathered, general moods have come over the utterances of the president and his supporters. First they were plaintively apologetic; then they were indignant at congress.

REPUBLICANS RESORT TO BREEDING OF FEAR.

Finally they have in desperation resorted to the breeding of fear. At first they refused to recognize that he was in a contest. But as the people have responded to our program with enthusiasm, they recognized that we were both candidates. And then dignity died.

At Detroit he spoke of my arguments—misquoting them. But at Indianapolis he went further. He abandoned argument for personalities. In the presence of a situation like this, I am tempted to reply in kind. I shall not yield to the temptation to which the president yielded. On the contrary, I reiterate my respect for his person and his office. But I shall not be deterred even by the president of the United States from the discussion of grave national issues and submitting to them the truth about their national affairs, however unpleasant that truth may be.

INSTRUMENT OF FREE PEOPLE. The ballot is the indispensable instrument of a free people. It should be the true expression of their will. It is intolerable when that is corrupted, whatever the form of coercion, political or economic.

The automatic will of no man, be he president, or general, or captain of industry, shall ever be the sacred right of the people themselves to determine for themselves who shall govern them.

Secure in their undying belief in this great tradition, the people of this country, the employed, the partially employed and the unemployed, those who are fortunate enough to retain some of the means of economic well-being, and those from whom these cruel conditions have taken everything, have stood with patience and fortitude in the face of adversity.

There they stand. And they stand peacefully, even when they stand in the breadline. Their complaints are not mingled with threats. They are willing to listen to reason. It is all times. Throughout this great crisis, the stricken army of the unemployed has been patient, law-abiding, orderly, because they are hopeful.

But the party that claims as its guiding tradition the patient and generous spirit of the immortal Lincoln, when confronted by an opposition which has given to the nation an orderly and constructive campaign, has descended to an outpouring of misstatements, of threats and intimidation.

GOOD SENSE OF PEOPLE MISCONCEIVED BY G. O. P.

The administration attempts to undermine reason through fear to tell us that the world will come to an end on November 8 if they are not returned to power for four years more. It sadly misconceives the good sense and self-reliance of our people.

They tell us further that the present administration will be unable to hold in check the economic forces that threaten us in the period between election and inauguration. They threaten American business and American workers with dire destruction from November to March.

They crack the "whip of fear" over the backs of American voters.

Ambassador Mellon, the representative of the United States at the Court of St. James, who should represent the whole American people there, appeals to an English audience on English soil for the support of a party candidate 3,000 miles away, and invokes the same sinister threat and seeks to spread it to the rest of the civilized world.

We are told that there was a Roman senator who threw himself into a chasm to save his country. These gentlemen are of the new breed. They are willing to throw their country into a chasm to save themselves. Another means of spreading fear is to threaten the loss of jobs. I have said, and without being controverted, that 5,000 men in effect control American industry. These men possess such great power, carry likewise a great responsibility.

INDUSTRIALISTS VIOLATING SACRED RIGHTS OF VOTER. It is their duty to use every precaution to see that this power is never used to destroy or limit the sound public policy of the free and uncorrupted exercise of the power of the ballot.

In violation of this duty, some of these 5,000 men who control industry are invading the sacred political rights of those over whom they have economic power. They are joining in the chorus of fear instilled by the party in power.

The treasury and the republican national committee.

They are telling their employees that if they will support the administration of President Hoover such jobs as they have will be in danger.

Such conduct is un-American and worthy of censure at the ballot box. It would be equally reprehensible if any political leader were to seek re-election against an employer who used such means. Let us fight our political battles with political arguments, and not prey upon men's economic fears.

No, my friends, their threats are empty gestures. You know, and I know, that their industries have been sliding down hill, and I know, and you know, that the whole program of the present administration has been directed only to prevent a further slipping. Because they are afraid, they are afraid to let the people know the truth. Therein lies the difference between the leadership of the two parties.

DEMOCRATS SEEKING TO BUILD UP, IMPROVE.

You know and I know that the democratic party is not satisfied merely with arresting the present decline, but that we seek to build up, improve, and advance the nation into a position where their wheels will turn and where opportunity will be given to them to re-employ the millions of workers they have laid off.

It is not enough merely to stabilize—to lend money! It is essential to increase purchasing power in order that goods may be sold. There must be people capable of buying goods in order that goods may be manufactured and sold. When that time comes, under a new administration, the same gentlemen will be there doing business as usual.

The American voter, the American workman, the American farmer of New England, the miner of the west, the railroad worker, the farmer, and the white collar man, will answer this silly, spiteful threat with his ballot on November 8.

As I have pointed out before in this campaign, the fruits of this depression, like the fruits of any, will be gathered in by future generations. It is not, my friends, the pinch of suffering and the agony of uncertainty that the grown-up people are now feeling that counts the most. It is the heritage that our children must anticipate that counts. Under-nourishment and poor standards of living and inadequate medical care today will make themselves felt for 50 years to come.

EFFECT OF FARM PRICES VISITED UPON CHILDREN.

I stood in Topeka, Kan., and said to the farmers that the tragic effects of 40-cent wheat and 9-cent corn and 6-cent cotton is not so much what the farmer must endure today when he sees the labor of his hands wasted on a product that does not yield him a living. The bitterness of it all is what it means for his children.

It is the same for you—you workers in industry. There are none of us who do not hope that our children get a better break than we have had—that the chance for an education, for a reasonable start in life, may be passed on to our children. I have shown, the president and his secretary of the treasury encouraged speculation.

Fourth: The report recommended an adequate system of unemployment insurance. No one in the administration assured leaders, in order to bring about positive action by the states to make this a reality.

HOOPER SPONSORED. THEN VETOED RELIEF. Fifth: It suggested an adequate system of public employment offices. But when Senator Wagner introduced a bill to establish the employment offices, President Hoover vetoed the measure which Chairman Hoover had sponsored.

Businessmen who believe in sound planning—these men of action—must feel that there is danger to the country in the continuance of a leadership that shows such incapacity, such inertia and heedlessness to sound business principles.

We have heard much about fact-finding. With all its pretentious belief in facts and figures, this administration has largely used the process of fact-finding merely to gain time. Usually they get even the facts too late and when they get the facts they misinterpret them.

What we need in Washington is less fact-finding and more thinking. Immediate relief of the unemployed is the immediate need of the hour. But no mere emergency measures of relief are adequate. Our goal, our unremitting objective, must be to secure permanent employment.

Without stability of employment for our workers and a balanced economy between agriculture and industry, there can be no healthy national life.

TWO PROBLEMS CONFRONT AMERICAN GOVERNMENT. We have two problems.

First, to meet the immediate distress and, second, to build up on a permanent basis.

As to "immediate relief," the first principle is that this nation has a positive duty that no one shall be permitted to starve. It means that while the immediate responsibility for relief rests with local, public and private charity, in so far as these are inadequate, the states must carry the burden, and whenever the states are unable adequately to do so, the federal government owes the positive duty of stepping into the breach.

The present republican administration early took a position against the frank recognition of this principle. It was only because of the insistence of congress and the unmistakable voice of the people that the president yielded and approved the relief bill this summer.

Second: In addition to providing emergency relief, the federal government should provide temporary work for the unemployed. In the past, the federal government has done this in the form of public works, on flood prevention, and on the development of waterway projects already authorized and planned.

Third: The federal government should expedite the actual construction of public works already authorized. The country would be horrified to know how little construction work authorized by the last congress and approved by the president has already been undertaken. Much of it will not be under way until next summer.

BURDEN OF RELIEF RESTS ON U. S.—STATE GOVERNMENTS. In the field that looks forward ahead, we call for a coordinated system of public works, exchanges, advance planning of public works, and unemployment reserves. Who, then, is to carry these measures?

The first and foremost responsibility of the federal government, although it will require the loyal and intelligent co-operation of state and local agencies throughout the land. To this federal action, therefore, I pledge my administration. The second—that of the advance planning of public works—against the strong lead from the government in Washington. I pledge my administration to the adoption of this principle.

The third—that of unemployment reserves—under our system of government, be primarily the responsibility of the several states. This, the democratic platform, on which I stand, is entirely clear.

GOVERNMENT MUST INDUCE INDUSTRY TO SHORTEN HOURS. In addition, there has been long overdue a reduction of the hours of work and the number of working days per week. The great justifications of modern industry are the lessening of the toil of man. These fruits will be dead fruits unless men earn enough so that they can buy the things that are produced and have the leisure for the culture of body, mind and spirit which the great inventions are supposed to make possible. This means that government must set an example in the case of its own employees. It means also that government must exert its persuasive leadership to induce industry to do likewise.

Here, then, is a program of long-range planning which requires prompt and definite action and the co-operation of federal, state and local governments, as well as of far-seeing citizens throughout the land. The proposals are specific and far-reaching. To advocate a less drastic program would be to mislead the lessons of the depression, and be indifferent to the country's welfare.

My policy which is more vital, more basic than all else. I seek to restore the purchasing power of the nation. The only way that will put people back to work.

We need to restore our trade with the world. Under republican leadership, we have lost it and the president of the United States seems to be indifferent about regaining it.

FARM PRICES FIRST MUST BE IMPROVED. Moreover, we need to give to fifty million people who live directly or indirectly upon agriculture a price for their products in excess of the cost of production. That will give them the buying power to start your mills and mines to work to supply their needs. They cannot buy your goods unless they cannot get a fair price for their products. You are poor because they are poor.

I favor—and do not let the false statements of my opponents deceive you—continued protection for American agriculture. I favor more than that. I advocate measures to give the farmer an added benefit, called a tariff benefit, to make the tariff effective on his products. The most enlightened of modern American business men likewise favor such a benefit.

An excellent example is your own fellow-citizen—Mr. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, who has merited of the country a plan for the restoration of agriculture, not unlike my own.

President Hoover does not favor a program of that kind. He has closed the door of hope to American agriculture, and when he did that he closed the door of hope to you also. He says proudly that he has effectively restricted immigration in order to protect American labor. I favor that; but I might add that the enforcement of the immigration laws serious abuses have been revealed.

UNEMPLOYED OF FARMS INCREASE CITY PROBLEMS. But he does not tell you that by permitting agriculture to fall into ruin, millions of workers from the farms have crowded into our cities. These men have added to unemployment. They are here because agriculture is prostrated. A restored agriculture will check this migration. It will keep these farmers happily at home. It will leave more jobs for you. It will provide a market for your products. That is the key to national economic restoration.

One word more. I have spoken of getting things done. Now the way to get things done under our form of government is through joint action of the president and the congress. The two branches of government must co-operate. That is necessary under our constitutional government.

President Hoover cannot get action from the congress. He seems unable to co-operate. He quarreled with a republican congress, and he quarreled with a half republican congress. He will quarrel with any kind of a congress. He cannot get things done. This is something you must consider. The next congress will certainly be democratic. I look forward to co-operation with it. I am confident that the next thing done through it, because for four years I have had to work with a republican legislature.

I have been able to get things done in Albany by treating the republican legislature like human beings and as my associates in government.

"Standard" PLUMBING FIXTURES ... at the lowest prices ever known

THE NEW "Companion Ensemble"

You need not pay a premium for really smart, distinctive bathroom fixtures.

The new "Companion" Lavatory with its modern lines, convenient top shelf and graceful metal legs combines beauty with utility. It measures only 18 inches from wall to front yet has wash bowl of generous size, and soap dishes in the slab. Its fittings are in the back—convenient—out of the way.

See how perfectly the "Companion" Lavatory harmonizes with the new "Standard" One-Piece Closet, which is one-third lower in height than the average closet and operates so quietly that it cannot be heard outside the room.

The "Companion" Lavatory and One-Piece Closet are ideal for a downstairs washroom, and with the "Pembroke" Bath, make the "Companion Ensemble" beautiful for the large bathroom and almost essential for the small one.

Now is the time to install that new bathroom, an extra one or a downstairs toilet. You can, by acting now, save real money on fixtures, material and labor.

To modernize now definitely relieves unemployment.

THE TIME TO KILL A COLD
—is in the First Stage, While it is Yet a "Dry" Cold!

Now it is known that a cold ordinarily passes through three stages. The first is the Dry Stage, the second the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days. The third, the Mucous Secretion Stage. Treated in the first stage, a cold is far easier to kill. As a matter of fact, when a cold passes into the second and third stages it is apt to become settled in the system and dangerous.

Nip a cold in the bud by taking Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as soon as you feel the first symptoms. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine does not merely soothe a cold—it kills it, because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels—kills the cold germs, infection and fever in the system—relieves the headache and grippe feeling—tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Effective as it is, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. It contains no harmful drugs and produces no bad after-effects. Does not upset the stomach or make the head ring. For years this famous tablet has been the relief of thousands in all cases of colds and grippe. Take no chances with a cold so long as this dependable remedy is available. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drug store in America. Comes in convenient, pocket-size box, cellophane-wrapped. No reliable dealer will try to sell you a substitute.

I have said that I look forward to the most pleasant relations with the next democratic congress, but in addition to that let me make it clear that on the great majority of national problems which ought not to be handled in a partisan way I expect to have pleasant relations with republicans in the senate and the house of representatives as well as with democrats.

WILL WORK EFFECTIVELY FOR ECONOMIC RECOVERY.

We, meaning thereby, the president and the members of both parties in the national legislature, will, I am confident, work effectively for the restoration of American economic life.

I decline to accept present conditions as inevitable or beyond control. I decline to stop at saying "it might have been worse."

I shall do all I can to prevent it from being worse—but—and here is the clear difference between the president and myself—I go on to pledge action to make things better.

The nation has the capacity to make things better. The nation wants to make things better. The nation prays for the leadership of action to make things better. That will be shown in every state one week from tomorrow. We are through with "delay"—through with "dispar"—ready and waiting for better things.

Humorist Marquis Is Stricken Blind

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Don Marquis, humorist, who at one time columnist of the New York Sun, was stricken blind last Thursday night and today his condition had improved only to the extent that he can distinguish between red and black.

The attack came upon him Thursday night while he was at the Playhouse Club. He had been working several weeks on the casting and rehearsal of his play, "The Dark Hours," which is to open the night of November 14.

Marquis is 54 years old. For some years he has been writing fiction and plays, and his creations, "The Old Sock" and "Archey the Cockroach," became famous.

150,000 Britons Join Latest Textile Strike

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Spinnings in the Lancashire cotton mills rejected a wage cut of 5 to 8 per cent today and pulled 150,000 men out on strike.

Representatives of the union and the mill owners got together immediately, but they made no headway toward a compromise which might end the walkout. There were no arrangements for further meetings and up to this evening the ministry of labor has taken no action.

Three thousand hands appeared for work at Leigh in the morning, but when they learned that the 16 mills there would put the pay cut into effect they went back home. The same thing happened at Rochdale and other mill towns. Altogether about 200,000 spinners are employed in the Lancashire area.

This is the second cotton strike in recent months. Last July the weavers went out for a pay cut and their argument was not settled until a few weeks ago.

Dad Kiley Restored After Three Trips To Hospital

Remarkable Powers of Yeast, Copper and Iron Again Demonstrated After All Other Means Failed. Gave Up Hope. Now Feels Fine.

Of the many remarkable statements regarding the astonishing benefits of the new yeast, copper and iron treatment, Thor's Vitamin Compound, none is more remarkable perhaps than that of Michael J. (Dad) Kiley, genial cashier at Walton's Restaurant, 175 Whitehall street, Atlanta.

"A man has to go through what I did to appreciate this new yeast, copper and iron treatment to the full," said Mr. Kiley. "When I got back from Florida six years ago I was hardly able to stand up. They said I had an anemia and carried me to the hospital. I had to have a blood transfusion, and once I was so far gone they called in my relatives. After three months I managed to pull through and get up, but was still so weak I soon had to go back to the hospital. Again they patched me up and got me out. All the time I was on a rigid diet, principally liver. I gained a waist-line, but couldn't regain any strength, and soon went down for the third time. Everything possible was done for me and no doubt they saved my life, but when I got out of the hospital the third time I was just barely hanging on.

Astronomers Looking For Elusive Comet

LAKE GENEVA, Wis., Oct. 31. (AP)—Astronomers early today began pointing their telescopes toward the eastern sky in the hope of catching a glimpse of Tempel's comet, which is due to appear sometime within the next two weeks.

The comet was first observed in 1806, when astronomers calculated that it would reappear in 33 years. In 1890, however, observers were unable to locate it. Now that another 33 years' time has passed, they are looking again.

Important last-minute features of the national campaign for the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

All county finance directors are being urged by Ryburn G. Clay, director of finance for Georgia, to enlist the services of as many additional volunteer workers as can be obtained in efforts to make a person-to-person canvass possible in every community.

Renewed activity in the campaign followed assurances of great personal interest in Georgia's record given by Governor Roosevelt himself in conferences with Mr. Clay and with Charles B. Shelton, Georgia state chairman of the Roosevelt Business and Professional League.

Atlanta Girls Return to Moscow After Expulsion From Turkestan

MOSCOW, Oct. 31. (AP)—Alva Christensen and Mary L. DeGrove, the two Atlanta, Ga., girls who have been seeing Russia from freight cars and a small automobile, have returned to Moscow in good health and smiling over fresh adventures.

The girls were expelled from Turkestan for lack of proper identification papers after they had worked their way through three Turkestan cities.

They spent several days each in Ashkhabad, Bokhara and Samarkand, where they were received with great courtesy and much attention by the officials, but they were trapped at Tashkent and were invited to leave the territory.

The girls reached Cherbourg, France, on July 4 and went across country by motor to the Polish-Russian frontier. From that point the adventures they were looking for were served them in generous quantities.

They left Moscow in a small automobile two months ago, intending to tour as much of Russia as possible without affiliating with the regular tourist agency. They finally reached Tiflis after a broken piston forced them to make a part of their journey on railroad flat cars. Their automobile was finally repaired by red army mechanics.

After some days in Tiflis the girls sold the car and set out by boat and train for Turkestan in spite of warnings by Tiflis officials against the dangers of such a trip.

En route, one of their suit cases containing what they considered precious camera films was stolen. They were accompanied by a young Armenian girl, who served as interpreter. Miss Christensen expects to go to Tiflis and get certain belongings left there and then return to Moscow to rejoin her companion. They then intend to start for Atlanta.

Confident Safety

I WANDERED down into the Safe Deposit Vault today. How I wish those boxes could talk. If they had sense, many of them would probably tell about foolish owners who have hidden money away, that could be well invested in good securities or earning interest in the bank.

Funny how smart folks do curious things at times. A man will take out insurance on his household goods or his home, and then go away on a vacation or a visit to some distant point, leaving securities or valuable papers in danger, not only of fire, but theft. Even the family silver is carefully hidden away, exactly at the point where the experienced burglar looks to find it.

Then along about the middle of the trip the folks begin to get worried and put in a long distance call to their neighbor or some relative, suggesting that they ramble over and check the house to be sure everything is all right.

And the chances are the toll for the telephone call would have rented a safe deposit box for a year, thus eliminating all worry.

BREAK of the DAY!
BRUSH OFF THE RESIN—(IN MEMORIAM.)
Oh, brush off the resin, and loosen the ropes, and turn out the spot overhead;
Pick up the buckets and kick out the stool, the game of box fighting is dead.

Oh, Sullivan, rest there; it wasn't your fault, and sleep on, little Joe Gans.
George Dixon, poor little Chocolate Kid—YOU didn't bring on the pans.
If only Nelson could make weight again, or Wolgast clear up his head;
If Ketchell or Papke, McGovern or Erne, or Fitzsimmons be called from the dead—

But Johnson and Griffo and Attell are gone, and Leach Cross, the fighting M. D.
And Harry Greb's down in the shadowy vault, and Tunney has turned L. D.
Oh, Dempsey or Corbett or fighting Jeff, come back again just for a night.
Meet Johnson or Kilrain or Hart and give us a whale of a fight.

Don't wrestle and clinch and jab and make it a half-hearted fight.
Lead that left straight for the jaw and shoot with a murderous right.
Don't fall and cry "foul" when the going is rough, and leather flies thick and fast;
Just keep up your hands and shoot for his jaw, and show that a man can last.

Oh, brush off the resin, and loosen the ropes, and turn out the spot overhead;
Pick up the buckets and kick out the stool—the game of box fighting is dead.

—MIKE CHAMBERS,
Georgia Tech Boxing Coach and Trainer.

THE PEACHTREE COURIER.

When Johnny Baker wrote his piece for the Sat. Eve. Post last week and said that he had found a guard who played him a tougher game than Jack Cannon, of Notre Dame, in 1929, he must have been mistaken. In the 1929 game against Cannon and Ted Twomey, Johnny Baker was knocked very cold, indeed, and did not even come back to finish it—The only seats empty, and there were not many of them, at the Vanderbilt-Tech game Saturday, where there were seats for 24,000, were the $2.50 seats. All the 40-cent spots and all the one-dollar spots were gobbled up quickly—which would indicate people want to see football when they have the money to pay for it.

The funniest thing is that story out of New York. The football lottery gamblers there allow you to pick any four winners out of seven games given and pay heavy sugar if you are right or if you guess the correct score of one. They outsmarted themselves two weeks ago by including the Wake Forest-North Carolina State game as one of the seven. The time limit was noon Saturday. But the laugh was that the Wake Forest game was played Friday night and EVERYONE "guessed" the correct score. And the racket took it on the chin for more than $30,000—Isn't that funny.

Yussell Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, will bring back several European fighters when he returns with Max—He has done well with the one he has—The greatest headache the beer people have in the hinterlands is wondering whether beer will be allowed on tap or just in bottles—A couple of parties in Atlanta are worrying—Jack Cannon, who was selected on an all-time, All-American team at guard, received a football set with a HUGE diamond—He does not wear it because once he was held up by a footpad—Georgia's contract with N. Y. U. has two more years to run and there is not much chance of Manhattan being added to the schedule—George Jolson, brother of Al Jolson, manager of Jacobs' store at Edgewood and Pryor, will teach any football team how to sing "Mammy Songs" free of charge. He admits he is not the original but the talent runs in the family—Howard Haire is eating steaks again—And IS he glad?—His ad business showed many new accounts. Imagine!—It's funny to see a football team eating steak the morning before a game and such a light nothing at all before the game.

Tarzan Lackey, Tech guard, received permission from Coach Alexander to sit up until Chattanooga was reached at 10:15 Friday night en route to Nashville so he could see his girl, who was to meet him there. He was all dressed up and got off the train only to find that the young lady wasn't there at all—And was his face red?—The Tech players thought Tex Leyendecker was the best tackle they had met all fall.

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION.

Mr. Mack Tharpe, the Georgia Tech scout, brings back a report of irregularities in the Tulane band. It seems that there is a cymbal crasher in the Tulane band who graduated last year but who is still crashing his cymbals each Saturday.

This, of course, is very unfair to other bands. Experience will tell. The Vanderbilt band is also reported to be playing a man with a degree. Such things should be investigated and affidavits filed with the Southern conference executive heads.

It is said that the Tulane cymbal crasher is willing to crash his cymbals as long as one of the very beautiful young lady cheer leaders remains at Tulane. At least this is the report which Scout Tharpe brings back. When the cheer leader graduates the cymbal crasher will pack up his cymbals and move on. And one cannot blame him. The Tulane co-ed cheer leaders are very beautiful, indeed, and one cannot blame the cymbal crasher for crashing his cymbals very violently and enthusiastically if it brings a smile from one of the cheer leaders. The Southern conference should pass a special rule for this man. I think he is eligible under the five-year rule at that.

Coach W. A. Alexander was greatly disturbed when he learned of Scout Tharpe's report.

"I did not send him there to scout cymbal crashers," he said. "I sent him there to scout the Tulane football team, whom we play Saturday at Grant field. And if I find any cymbals in his reports instead of football symbols I will get a very fine cymbal and crash it about Scout Tharpe's ears."

Reports of band scandals continue. There is a trombone player in the Georgia band who blows his trombone with a sort of Yankee twang to it. He may be a migrant trombone player. And the Vanderbilt oompah horn man is oompahing for the fifth year.

When the band scandals involve a cymbal crasher it is time something was done. The Southern conference hasn't enough rules.

ROUGH ROAD FOR GEORGIA TEAMS.

Georgia teams, whose roads are usually badly in need of smoothing out, meet rough ones this week. Georgia Tech is to play Tulane in Atlanta. And Tech, with the old spirit of the Flats, thinks there is a chance to beat the Flying Dutchman and his crew. Georgia goes to New York to meet N. Y. U., with a chance to make it three games out of four played. Oglethorpe remains in New York to meet Syracuse, another rugged test, at Syracuse. And Mercer plays Centre at Danville, Ky., in a game which may decide the Dixie conference title. All important—and tough.

HUNK ANDERSON ORDERS DRASTIC IRISH SHAKEUP

Captain and Other Regulars Demoted Following Defeat of Saturday.

By Paul Mickelson,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 31.—(AP) Coach "Hunk" Anderson was a Hal- loween scolding terror in the hearts of his Notre Dame football regulars tonight.

Infuriated because the Ramblers took it on the chin at Pittsburgh Saturday in probably the biggest upset of the season, "Hunk" hauled out the big stick for the first time in his coaching career at Notre Dame and ordered a drastic shake-up.

Captain Paul Host, the most noted victim of his fury, was demoted from first-string end to the second team in favor of Hugh Devore; Nick Lukats was ousted from left halfback on an unexpected reverse. He figured the Ramblers were two or three touchdowns better than Pitt's Panthers.

All through Notre Dame's "point-a-minute" season, in its first three games of the season, rumors have been current of dissension within the ranks. Close observers failed to notice any, today, they grew with defeat and with the wilding of the big stick by Coach Anderson.

Notre Dame followers, accustomed to one victory march after another by the large Ramblers army, were stunned by the setback at Pittsburgh—the third defeat for Notre Dame in the last six games, the first of 13 played under direction of Coach Anderson.

CRITICIZED.

Naturally, Coach Anderson was in for some criticism for his optimistic utterances but his supporters blamed the showing at Pittsburgh on the current of dissension within the ranks.

The first three games of the season, it was pointed out, were decided by the large Knute Rockne when the Haskell Indians, Drake and Carnegie Tech were regarded as powerful trial horses at the best.

For the late Knute Rockne, when they were "push overs" for Notre Dame, a result that gave the first-string regulars only 45 minutes of service under the big stick.

"We're not alibing at all," Coach Anderson said. "Pitt beat us with a fine team with a great spirit and deserves all the credit the players received."

"We weren't ready, I guess, but we'll be from now on. The Tech team is in the regular lineup, now, unless I'm convinced that some of the other regulars can hit the ball."

LITTLE REVIEWS GAMES IN EAST

By Lou Little,

Head Football Coach, Columbia University.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—While the University of Pittsburgh's eleven is being hailed today, and rightly, for its sound, well-balanced victory over Notre Dame Saturday, the Panthers' great feat was not at all the only north-white football of the day in the east.

Brown, which has been pounding along the unbeaten trail with comparative little blowing of trumpets by graduation, today, evidenced its prowess in a two-touchdown victory over Harvard.

Yale, which had not won any earlier game, finally clicked with a victory over Princeton, a game which was bound to assert themselves sooner or later. That Dartmouth had to be the victim was merely the Green's bad luck.

Pennsylvania, moving behind a fine line to victory over Navy; powerful Colgate, and Princeton, edging by a Cornell team which was always a beautifully drilled unit and fully as strong as had been expected, were other features of so-called major tests.

Pitt's feat in going ahead after losing an entire first-string line by graduation, is evidence of the great ability of the players but of the fundamental worth of the system and coaching methods of Dr. Joseph Sutherland, Brown's coach.

But none of these winning performances by eastern teams carried more significance in my mind than the great showing made by Princeton against Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Princeton carried the fight to the Wolverines, went away to a well-earned first-half lead and might have won had not the Michigan players, who had it had it not been for the safety in the second period.

Harvard's defeat by Brown does not mark the Crimson as any less powerful than my earlier estimate, except perhaps in the matter of reserve strength. With Army, Holy Cross and Lafayette, Yale ahead on the next three Saturdays, Coach Eddie Casey and his aides face a real problem in the attempt to bolster their first string.

'Y' Candidates Begin Practice

"Help! Help!"

Coach Rufus Bass, of the Y. M. C. A., sounded somewhat distressed over the telephone last night.

"I need talent, lots of talent, for a basketball team this season. And I am asking all players in the city who would like to try for the team to attend the first practice Tuesday night. We have set some of the regulars of last season and our schedule demands a first-class quintet."

The first practice is scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the "Y." There will be workouts every Tuesday and Thursday at this hour and at 5:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Two games each are scheduled with Mercer, Furman, J. P. C. and the Albany Y. M. C. A. and one with Georgia. Games are being sought with Tech. The "Y" Blues are members of the Big Six league.

COACH MCGUGIN PRAISES 'DEVILS'

Duke's Fight Against Vols Was One of Great- est, He Writes.

By Dan E. McGugin,

Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1932, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30.—The Duke-Tennessee game took the spotlight in the Southern conference Saturday.

Duke, all things considered, made one of the greatest football fights in the history of the South. The Tech team is made up largely of seniors, and there are not more than two or three first-class athletes of natural ability on the team.

Coach Wallace Wade's outfit played a daring, alert, defensive game and the Duke team, which has been what it had to contend with and made the most out of the factors at its disposal.

Nevertheless, with the score standing at 13-13, Tennessee with three minutes left to play, showed its talent and ability by driving the ball into the end zone for a place kick which was successfully negotiated.

Georgia Tech, with wonderful spirit and determination, held Vanderbilt scoreless the last three periods in one of the hardest fought games. The Tech team is made up largely of seniors, and there are not more than two or three first-class athletes of natural ability on the team.

Georgia is on the upgrade. Its sophomores are coming along fast and impressively, indicated by her 23-12 victory over Auburn.

Auburn had a close call from Mississippi. Auburn was probably a little flat after her great game against Tulane and Mississippi has been superbly improving.

Kentucky gave Alabama heart failure a good deal of the time, although the latter managed to win by one touchdown with Captain Cain on the sidelines due to an injury. North Carolina won a very satisfactory victory over Wake Forest.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute continued impressive in its one-sided victory over the Blue Devils. The Blue Devils grow better week by week, and won impressively from a Good V. M. team, 27-7.

Tulane nosed out South Carolina.

Auburn Tied For Scoring Honors

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—The 1932 football campaign enters the crucial November engagements with only one unbeaten team left.

Notre Dame, Harvard, Johns Hopkins and Catholic University all suffered their initial defeat last week, while Temple, St. John's, of Minnesota and Wagner College, of Staten Island, were tied.

Colgate and Auburn jointly share the scoring lead among the unbeaten and united teams with 195 points in six games. Columbia ranks third with 180. Colgate and Southern California are the only eleven boasting unbroken goal lines.

The 20 teams which an Associated Press compilation shows neither beaten nor tied follow:

TEAM	Points	Points
Colgate	195	0
Auburn	180	0
Columbia	180	10
Dartmouth	156	27

Flashers Defeat Bullpups, 18 to 0

East Lake's midweek Flashers opened their season with an 18-0 victory over the Bullpups of the Fulton gridiron.

After only ten minutes of play, Woodrow Denman circled left end for the first touchdown. In the third period Johnson, right end, intercepted a pass and ran 80 yards to score. Jackson caught a 25-yard pass from Jones late in the fourth period to make the final touchdown. Frank Frazier, Bullpup captain, played best for the losers.

Mehre Lectures Bulldog Eleven

Shiver Warns of N. Y. U. Power; McNamara and Tanguay Smashing Runners.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 31.—The Georgia Bulldogs, somewhat weary and worn after their 33-12 defeat at Florida Saturday, spent a rainy Monday afternoon in the gymnasium while Head Coach Harry Mehre pointed out some of the rough spots of Saturday's play and End Coach Chick Shiver, who scouted N. Y. U. Saturday, warned them of the power of the Violets, the Bulldogs' opponents next Saturday.

Shiver saw the Violets as a team with power and speed to burn, and one which, in their present disgruntled frame of mind following their loss to Purdue, would be inclined to throw everything they have at the Bulldogs.

Stressing the formidable play of the Violets forward wall, and the smash of the big running backs, Tanguay and McNamara, Shiver declared that some of the rough spots of Saturday's play and End Coach Chick Shiver, who scouted N. Y. U. Saturday, warned them of the power of the Violets, the Bulldogs' opponents next Saturday.

Bulldog play against the 'Gators Saturday did much to clarify in Harry Mehre's mind the future starting personnel of Bulldog football. Butcher McCullough, whose fine play drew the commendation of Florida coaches, will in all probability be the Bulldogs' starting quarterback.

Minor injuries and a few of the Bulldogs' outfit sore and limping. Cy Grant, whose fleet legs were responsible for three Bulldog markers Saturday, has a sore knee that will keep him out of the game. The injury is only a painful bruise, and will in no way hamper the speed of the speedy halfback in Saturday's game.

Buster Mott, who took a lot of punishment Saturday, was pretty well banged up all over, but will be in shape for the Violets game. Charley Oppen, whom an injured shoulder hampered in the Florida game, is coming around, and will be able to go again. A bruised muscle in Oppen's shoulder kept him from his peak Saturday.

BATCHELLOR OKAY.

Batchelor, who got a stiff leg from Saturday's tilt, will come around in a few sunny days will come along before now and the time the Bulldogs entrain.

N. Y. U. who came out on the short end of a 7-0 score last year when Buster Mott dashed 85 yards for a marker, and which kicked the point after that meant victory, will be primed for the Bulldogs and determined to wipe out the stigma of defeat by a heavy overwinning score. The Bulldogs are just as determined to follow the precedent of the old flaming sophomores.

A special train bearing Bulldog supporters leaves here at noon Thursday and a number of student machines of ancient vintage start out on the long trek north Wednesday.

TECH MENTOR PLANS BLOCKING AND TACKLING DRILLS THIS WEEK

By Jimmy Jones.

A return to the age-old fundamentals of football—blocking and tackling—will be stressed as the Georgia Tech football squad begins training for the invasion of the Tulane team to the Flata Saturday.

If they can stop Zimmerman and the other slippery Greene backs, the Jackets believe they can make their own plays gain considerable ground.

The Tech players returned to Atlanta convinced they had done about the best that was possible under the circumstances at Nashville. The young men are still greatly puzzled and somewhat chagrined over the fact that those two damaging Vanderbilt punts managed to drop just inside their five-yard line, where the ball rolled over one time and lay dead very much like a trick punt over the top.

BUSY KICKING.

"Either that, or the ball would hit on the one-yard line and bounce back to the two-yard line declared one crestfallen young Tech back.

"We were too busy kicking that ball out to do any ground gaining of our own," the sad-looking player declared. "We made only three earned first downs against the big Vanderbilt line."

On two occasions the Jackets thought they might have been able to get a score had Roy McArthur received a little better blocking on a pair of fake plays. But that game has been played now and most of the players would much rather trade it for a victory over Tulane if such can be had. They feel that the Wave is more vulnerable this year and certainly not the insurmountable barrier they faced last year.

Scout Mack Tharpe looked the Greens over and assimilated plenty of material. He thought Tulane got a lot of tough breaks Saturday against South Carolina, which looked for from the Tech players a sort of advance guard in the middle field but had trouble holding onto the ball near the Gamecock defense. One Lemmon fumble was a very costly mistake.

PLENTY OF BACKS.

"Tulane still has plenty of good backs, and don't forget that," Tharpe stated. He thought little Preacher Roberts a very good player. The Wave's man is the same old Zimmerman, he added.

Carolina did not look at all powerful offensively and a fairly good defense, he related. Outside of the game itself, Tharpe confessed that the most attractive sight he viewed was from the back of the Vanderbilt line.

There will be some more hard work this week and chances are that most of it will be on blocking.

NONE INJURED.

The squad of Tech players a sort of advance guard in the middle field but had trouble holding onto the ball near the Gamecock defense. One Lemmon fumble was a very costly mistake.

"I might as well be in the game trying to tackle the Tech players a sort of advance guard in the middle field but had trouble holding onto the ball near the Gamecock defense. One Lemmon fumble was a very costly mistake."

THE SPORTLIGHT

The November Clean-up.

In spite of all the punctured prognostications and shattered sooth-sayings to date, November brings in an unusually long list of unbeaten teams still in line for some form of championship rating. There are several teams in the east unbeaten or untied, and there is also Pittsburgh, conqueror of Army and Notre Dame. The south still carries Auburn, Tennessee and V. P. I. in the winning column; the far west has Southern California and U. C. L. A., and the midwest has Michigan with Purdue still among the unbeaten. So the new month that just stuck its head over the fence to look around has a lot of unfinished business to look after. A season, which might leave six or eight unbeaten, untied teams, would keep entirely too many arguments bubbling through the remainder of the winter.

The Rougher Assignments.

Here are some of the rougher assignments that lurk ahead for the unspotted, starting in the east.

Brown must meet Holy Cross, Columbia and Colgate. That happens to be the hardest highway of them all.

Holy Cross has Brown, Harvard, Fordham and Boston College. Columbia has Navy, Brown and Syracuse.

Colgate has Syracuse and Brown. Pennsylvania has Pittsburgh, Ohio State and Cornell.

Colgate, one of the strong teams of the country, has the leading chance to slip by without a dent, and Columbia has the next best shot at a spotless autumn.

The stout and alert Holy Cross delegation faces its own barrier on Saturday against the Brown bear. On the same date Penn meets Pitt, so there ought to be two vacancies among the east by Saturday's twilight.

Down south Tennessee's two hardest afternoons will be against Vanderbilt and Kentucky.

V. P. I. has its hardest game this week against a big, fast Alabama team, which has been moving in a hurry lately.

Auburn's roughest afternoon should be against Georgia later on. Of the three leaders, Auburn has the edge as far as future schedules go. Vanderbilt still has Tennessee and Alabama to face and this double assignment is the toughest of the lot to handle.

Southern California ought to slip through unbeaten and U. C. L. A. has better than an even chance. That would mean a west coast draw.

Michigan, after a battering season, still has Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota to beat back, and Minnesota, three weeks away, will be nobody's picnic. So Purdue still has a chance in the midwest country of big, fast teams.

Who are they? Colgate and Pitt got a big role in the east, with Army running second. Naturally, Columbia, Penn, Brown and Holy Cross have their earnest supporters. But no one seems to care about betting much even money on any of the bunch to outscore Colgate or Pitt.

Brown will have to face the brunt of this argument later on. Columbia's first team is given a high rating but the Lion reserves will please Dr. Little some better later on.

Pitt handed Notre Dame an unexpected jolt Saturday and after meeting Army, Ohio State and Notre Dame in a row the Panther isn't any too safe next Saturday against a Penn team, which is now under full steam.

It also will be interesting to see whether Pitt can do a better job for the east against Stanford than other eastern teams have done. Pitt has a schedule, which is tipped in trouble from start to finish. It has taken plenty of high-class football to slip through Army, Ohio State and Notre Dame without a defeat.

Down south the wandering experts, peering dimly through the heavy smoke of hotel room or smoking car, schedule Tennessee, Auburn and Vanderbilt along a level line, with Alabama only a step away.

V. P. I. can move into this class by suppressing the Crimson Tide's week in one of the day's closest contests.

Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Auburn carry three of the south's best backs in Feathers, Roberts and Hitchcock, all exceptionally able young men at any type of backfield work.

Busy Month. Moving into the southwest there are Centenary, Texas and T. C. U. to consider, with Nebraska still leading the old Missouri valley sector.

Centenary holds the southwest lead. Nebraska and Oklahoma should have a hot race through November to settle the Big Six argument, with Nebraska favored by shade.

You can see from all this that the final month of football, barring a few scattered contests, should have many interesting chapters to write before the last act closes out in the final oratory. This time there should be five or six.

MIDWESTERN RESULTS UPSET GRID GUESSERS

Irish Defeat Outstanding in Saturday Surprises; Victors Praised.

By Dr. C. W. Spears, Head Football Coach, University of Wisconsin.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

Bowling CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Results of Saturday's contests in midwestern football were for the most part surprising and undoubtedly are causing many a headache to loyal fans and great gatherings of second guessers with explanations.

The outstanding upset was the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh result. Notre Dame, rated as one of the greatest teams ever developed at the South Bend institution, and already hailed as national champion, met a surprisingly strong defensive team in the Panthers and were routed by two touchdowns.

Earlier in the season I pointed out that Notre Dame was the only team in the matter of softening up the early season's games would be watched with interest. There was doubt as to whether the easy games Notre Dame was playing prior to the Pitt contest did a potentially strong squad any good whatsoever.

A fact is that Notre Dame's offense was not up to a great deal, and that much yardage was made from scrimmage. Its passing attack and kicking game were good. Its offense, in other words, gave it plenty of scoring opportunities.

LACKED PUNCH. The conclusion, then, is not that the Notre Dame offense lacked punch, but that the squad did not truly appreciate what a scoring opportunity means.

In trying to make this explanation I don't wish to detract from Jack Sutherland's great Pittsburgh team as it performed in truly brilliant fashion to obtain a glorious victory.

While Minnesota beat Northwestern, this was not an upset to my way of thinking. I predicted the Minnesota team was coming along fast and that potentially it was a very powerful outfit, with a great backer in Mander, two very fast backs in Lund and Haas, good kicking, good passing, without doubt the best pass receiver in the conference, and in the estimation of many, the equal of Benny Gooden.

Northwestern's line has not proved effective from an offensive standpoint. This is clearly the story of the Northwestern attack. While Minnesota made considerable yardage, Northwestern's line held up fairly well from a defensive standpoint, and it was Minnesota's passing which ultimately led to victory. I look for Minnesota to improve each week, and probably prove a stumbling block for Michigan.

Zupke has two of the finest backs in the conference in Yaruskus and Indiana had a comparatively easy time with Mississippi State.

In the Big Six, Nebraska ran true to form in defeating Kansas State, although it was a much closer game than Nebraska patriots expected. And our surprise upset was the defeat Oklahoma suffered at the hands of its ancient rivals, the Oklahoma Aggies.

Football is, indeed, a funny game. If some of the other results were surprising, what about the Marquette-West Virginia contest? West Virginia had won only one game this year, and not only got past the Marquette team for a couple of touchdowns, but made just as many scores off Marquette passes as it did off its own.

Everything it did turned to gold. A very good Marquette team seemed hopeless against a team that was having its day of the season.

DR. WILLIAM M. FOLKS PAID FINAL TRIBUTE

Funeral Services for Distinguished Surgeon Held in Waycross.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 31.—(P)—Funeral services for Dr. William M. Folks, 43 years of age, one of the most distinguished surgeons of the south, who died early Sunday morning at a local hospital following an illness of only a few weeks, were held Monday. Interment was in the local cemetery.

He was a native son of Waycross, receiving his elementary education in the city schools, later attending the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, now the Medical College of Emory University, from which he received his degree in medicine in 1910. He located in his home city and during the 22 years of his practice had achieved outstanding rank as a surgeon and as a physician.

Dr. Folks is survived by his widow, by two sisters, Mrs. P. K. Greff, of Akron, Ohio, and Miss Louise Folks, of Waycross; by two brothers, Fleming Folks and Robert Folks, of Waycross; by three nieces, Miss Frances Newton, of Waycross; Mrs. Sara Greff Warner, of Akron; Miss Rose Greff, of Akron; Mrs. Mary Newton, of Waycross; and by one nephew, Dr. A. H. Morgan, of Waycross.

BUSY HALLOWEEN SPENT BY BANDITS, VICTIMS REPORT

Robbers and burglars were busy on Halloween, and many thefts were reported to police. Robbery by armed negroes was especially prevalent, according to police reports.

A. Halpin, grocer, of 50 Ashby street, was held up by a lone armed negro, and robbed of $80 in cash, he reported. Others who reported losses were: G. H. Fowler, grocer, 90 Hilliard street, robbed of $12 by three negroes. Frank Jones, of 88 Spruce street, held up at the corner of Spruce and avenue bridge and robbed of $10 in cash and personal effects.

M. G. Anos, manager of a drug store at 3 Ashby street, was held up by two negroes and relieved of $40 in cash, a diamond cluster ring and his watch.

B. Robin, grocer at 313 Wellborn street, lost $10 in cash to two armed negroes.

J. Freeman, grocer at 62 Chestnut street, reported he lost two negroes, while J. R. Anderson, of 77 Baker street, told police a negro forced him into an alley off Butler street near the police station, and took a small amount of money and his personal effects.

A shotgun was stolen from the residence of H. E. Galt, of 216 Merritts avenue, N. E., early Monday night, he said. Burglars entered through a rear window.

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney Re-elected Head of Peachtree Garden Club

Honor was conferred Monday upon Mrs. Robert L. Cooney for the sixth consecutive year by members of the Peachtree Garden Club, when she was re-elected president of the horticultural organization at its annual meeting held at the residence of Mrs. James D. Robinson on Ponce de Leon avenue in Druid Hills.

In recognition of her faithful service and her willingness to undertake and promote every progressive project sponsored by the club, Mrs. Cooney was presented with a beautiful bouquet of old English silver suitable for fruit or flowers, the gift of the members of the Peachtree Garden Club.

The gift was significant of the appreciation and admiration of the members, and was a token of the esteem in which Mrs. Cooney is held by her co-workers. Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, first vice president of the organization, made the presentation speech and referred to the various constructive activities which developed under Mrs. Cooney's leadership, and to her popularity with the members of the club.

Corps of Officers.

The corps of officers elected to serve with Mrs. Cooney included Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, first vice president; Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, second vice president; Mrs. Malcolm Fleming, recording secretary; Mrs. William H. Kiser, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Edwin E. Johnson, treasurer. Mrs. William H. Kiser was chairman of the nominating committee, and Mrs. Edwin E. Johnson was chairman of the executive committee.

Ever since 1926, the year in which Mrs. Cooney assumed the presidency of the Peachtree Garden Club, which was organized in 1923, she has guided the destiny of the organization with an exceedingly broad vision. She has ever been mindful of the constructive part the club plays in the beautification of Atlanta, and has unhesitatingly responded to every civic undertaking she

Daughters of United States Army To Meet With Mrs. Compton Today

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., Oct. 31. Feminine members of the military set whose fathers were army officers are especially interested in the meeting of the Daughters of the United States Army which will be held Tuesday, November 1, at the home of Colonel Goodwin Compton and Mrs. Compton, 229 Fifteenth street, with Mrs. Compton and her daughter, Miss Edith Compton, as hostesses.

Mrs. Edward L. King is the president of the organization and Mrs. L. Hardy, of Decatur, is the vice president. Miss Edith Compton is the secretary, while Miss Ruth Peck and Miss Sarah Green are members of the executive board. The club, which was organized last year at Fort McPhereson, adopts each season a pet project for its welfare work. Last season the members assisted the chaplain and the chapel guild in their work among the soldiers and former soldiers.

The members are requested to come at 2:30 o'clock to Mrs. Compton's home instead of to the Fort McPhereson Officers' Club, as was previously announced. The personnel of the club includes a representative group of the military and civilian social contingents.

Younger members of the army group assembled Saturday evening for the Halloween party given at the Fort McPhereson Officers' Club. Captain Thomas H. Ramsey and Mrs. Ramsey were the official hosts for the entertainment. Unique and beautiful costumes were worn by the guests. Prizes were awarded little Miss Elizabeth Auman, daughter of Captain Joseph Auman and Mrs. Auman, who represented Uncle Sam in her long-tail coat, striped trousers, red vest and tall hat. Bob Moorman won the boy's prize, appearing in a girl's costume of blue gores, high-heeled slippers, long green earrings and a black wig atop his blond hair.

Ladies Riding Class met in the post riding hall Monday morning with Lieutenant J. K. Baker and Lieutenant Douglas McNair as instructors. Those present were Mesdames Bruce Lamar Bruce, Mark Brunson, George Woodard, Ira Rader, Francis Fuller, Dr. E. Wheeler, Henry W. Robinson, Thomas H. Ramsey, Samuel Cook, William Stone and Jack Ryan.

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

by MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

Announcement is made today of the postponement of the November meeting of the Junior League from this Friday afternoon to Friday afternoon, November 11. This is done because of the fact that the regular performance of the "Golden Goose" will be given Friday and Saturday afternoon.

The "Golden Goose" will have four regular performances to which admission will be charged Friday and Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Green Warren, play chairman, hopes to start a contest soon among the children in the elementary grades at the public schools, the child drawing the best picture of a golden goose to receive a prize during the show Saturday night. Many other souvenirs, such as the table will be given away at every performance by Miss Anne Wynn Fleming, publicity chairman, who has been pressed into service as the magician of the show.

Mrs. Joseph Cooper is program chairman and has practically completed her plans for it already. Mrs. Robert Carson is in charge of costumes and will be very busy as soon as these arrive from Pasadena. Mrs. Delaney Sledge, music chairman, and Miss Margaret Nelson, song chairman, are in the midst of rehearsals of their response from individual leagues. Mrs. Delaney Sledge, music chairman, and Miss Margaret Nelson, song chairman, are in the midst of rehearsals of their response from individual leagues.

Mrs. Green Warren has chosen the cast as well as the Junior League children who will take part. All the chairmen are enthusiastic over the progress "The Golden Goose" has made and are more certain than ever that all who attend, whether children or adults, will find it thoroughly enjoyable.

Mrs. William Fulghum, our delegate to the A. J. L. A. welfare conference which took place in Boston last October, has returned to Atlanta with a number of interesting reports that all those present felt the conference most successful. Mrs. Fulghum says she has brought back many new ideas that will prove practical in our welfare work in the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital.

The opening date for the Junior League play, "The Golden Goose," has been set for Friday afternoon, November 18, at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium. However, on Thursday afternoon, November 17, at 2:30 o'clock, the Junior League, in conjunction with the Atlanta Child's Home, will present a private performance to which only the tiny inmates from the orphanages and the convalescent children from the Junior League ward at the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital will be invited. This represents a saving of $14,817, the Atlanta League is very happy to participate in this economy.

However, on Thursday afternoon, November 17, at 2:30 o'clock, the Junior League, in conjunction with the Atlanta Child's Home, will present a private performance to which only the tiny inmates from the orphanages and the convalescent children from the Junior League ward at the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital will be invited. This represents a saving of $14,817, the Atlanta League is very happy to participate in this economy.

Mrs. William Healey Will Compliment Miss du Bignon

Mrs. William T. Healey's bridge-luncheon to be given Wednesday at her Andrews drive residence will be a complimentary gesture to Miss du Bignon, and the event will take the form of a welcoming party, as Miss du Bignon spent the past 18 months in Europe.

Miss du Bignon reached Atlanta last Saturday after having crossed the Atlantic ocean on the United States' new steamer, the Manhattan. During her extended stay abroad she spent two months in Africa and several months in Switzerland and Italy. The latter period of Miss du Bignon's stay in Europe was spent in Paris. She is now residing with her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Alston, at Woodville, their home on Andrews drive, and is being cordially welcomed by her wide circle of friends.

Miss Baxter Hostess.

Miss Bessie Baxter will entertain at tea Friday afternoon, November 18, at her home on Wakefield drive.

IF I WERE YOU

WHAT WAS GONE BEFORE.

Just after Anthony, Fifth Earl of Drolwich, became engaged to Violet Waddington, heiress of Waddington's 37 soups, and pretty but hard-boiled as a fashion plate, Mrs. Price, Tony's old nurse, drank too much gin-and-tonic, and fell in love with child and Syd was Lord Drolwich. Mrs. Price was the sister of Singsby, Tony's butler. Syd, who had a barbershop in London, insisted upon claiming the little and Tony's family, which includes his brother, the Hon. Freddie Chalk-Marshall, and his uncle and aunt, Sir Herbert and Lady Lydia, Basingstoke, decided to try making the Cockney barber an uncomfortable while "educating" him that he would chuck the whole affair. This method was suggested by Polly Brown, a pretty American girl who was a manicurist in Syd's shop. Tony left Langley End, his country estate, with the barber boy and fell in love with Polly. He told Violet he was not going to contest Syd's claim, and he broke their engagement and he proposed to Polly. Syd came to see Tony, bruised and battered after riding with Freddie. Tony told Syd the Basingstokes were making a fool of him with horseback riding and high-brow lectures and concerts. Ma Price told Violet she had signed a paper for Sir Herbert clearing her story, and Violet told Tony she had changed her mind. When they were all together, Lady Lydia, who had been all too ready to see Ma Price's signed retraction, NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

"Perhaps even you," he said, addressing the crushed man before him, "are capable of understanding that your whole case now automatically falls to the ground?"

A heavy sigh escaped from Syd. He regarded Ma Price loweringly.

"I might have known what would happen if you went to chapel," he said.

Sir Herbert was now striking a more kindly note. He had begun to point out the silver lining.

"Although you recognize now that you have absolutely no claim upon him, I am sure that Lord Drolwich will not prove ungenerous. If, for instance, you wish to move to Bond Street, I have no doubt that he—"

Then, seeing he, too, uttered a shattering cry.

"Tony!"

Tony was sitting on the edge of the shaving basin. In his left hand was the all-important document, in his right a lighted taper. And, as they looked, the paper crackled and crumpled in the flame.

"Tony!"

It was Violet who spoke this time, and he looked at her steadily, a half smile on his face. The paper fluttered in ashes to the ground. He got up and brushed his fingers.

"Singsby requires a steady 'and,' said Tony.

The morning sunshine, streaming in through the French windows, lit up the drawing room of Langley End with a cheerful flame. It danced among glass and silver. It sparkled on old chairs. It bathed the portrait of Long-Sword in a golden flood. On the last of Long-Sword's line, however, its rays were unable to fall; for Syd, who was not particularly fond of sunshine, had settled himself in a deep chair in the shadows on the other side of the room and was busy reading the racing intelligence in his daily paper.

But if there was no sunshine on Syd's exterior, there was plenty in his heart. Fourteen days had passed since the stirring scene in Price's hygienic toilet saloon in Mott Street, Knightsbridge, and on none of those days had he failed to congratulate himself on the sensational outcome of that family gathering. The failing now looked to Syd like a walkover, and he hummed, as he read, in quiet contentment.

The sound of a footstep outside the windows broke in on his pleasant musings; and, lowering his paper and looking over its edge, he perceived Tony. He regarded him with surprise, for he had supposed him to be 70 miles away in London. But it was indulgent surprise. He had nothing against Tony, Sir Herbert and Lady Lydia had ticked off properly, telling them exactly what he thought of them; and he had also, in a moving scene, dealt faithfully with the Hon. Freddie Chalk-Marshall; but towards Tony he nourished no hostility. He liked him, and considered that he had done his square thing. So, when he spoke, it was with none of the asperity of a household who sees an unwelcome intruder climbing in through his French windows.

"Oh, it's you, is it, young Price?" he said.

Tony touched his forehead respectfully.

"Morning, m'lord."

"And what brings you 'ere?"

"Sir Herbert summoned me to conference," Tony explained. "I drove down with Polly in the two-seater."

"Polly all right?"

"As right as any girl can expect to be who's marrying me in a week or so."

Syd opened his eyes.

"You two getting married?"

"We are."

"Well, you might do worse."

"But not better."

"She's a nice girl—Polly. Syd went on meditatively. "Andy at manicure, too. She'll be a help to you in the shop."

"You draw a pretty picture of the barber's married life," said Tony. The devoted helpmeet trimming one extremity of the customer while he trims the other. I like it. It's romantic. Unfortunately, there will be no opportunity for it in my case. Immediately after the ceremony we are going off somewhere to make our fortune. Planting coffee, you know."

Syd gaped again.

"Eh? But 'ow about the shop?"

"I'm selling the shop," expressed incredulous horror. He was plainly shocked to the core. "You don't mean that?"

"Yes. I have an offer from a man named Pupin."

"My Gawd!" Syd's consternation deepened. "You're not selling Price's to a daggo barber?"

"Pupin is a Swiss."

Syd's sallow face had turned a dusky pink. His eyes glowed angrily.

"I don't care if he's a Fiji Islander," he cried, his voice shaking. "The idea of selling Price's to a foreigner—or to anybody, for that matter. Where's your family pride? Why Price's has been Price's for six generations!"

"I came to see if this room was unoccupied."

"Oh?" Syd glanced at his paper again. This, he felt, was the way to treat the man falling into alien hands. He read for a moment or two before speaking. Then there occurred to him a question which lay on the tip of his tongue. "Who," he asked, "is the old bloke who drove up just now?"

Singsby's eye grew, if possible, colder and more like that of a justly incensed frog.

"I fail to recognize the description," he said stiffly. "But Mr. Weiberry, our family solicitor, arrived not long since."

Debutantes Make Formal Bow At Driving Club's Halloween Ball

Halloween was celebrated last evening by several hundred members of the Piedmont Driving Club at a brilliant dinner-dance at which the debutantes made their first formal appearance in society. The club's handsome ballroom was transformed into a bewitching scene with its profuse Halloween decorations featuring tall cornstalks, golden-colored pumpkins, persimmon boughs, and richly tinted autumn leaves. Bright-colored posters on which appeared black cats, witches riding broomsticks and grinning pumpkin faces adorned the side walls and columns.

The debutantes' table presented a lovely floral picture with its elaborate decorations featuring pink dahlias. Tall vases of similar blooms were arranged in graceful intervals on the table and placed between the vases were silver candlesticks in which burned pink tapers.

Spectacular Entrance.
The charming and attractive bevy of debutantes accompanied by their handsome cavaliers made their spectacular entrance into the ballroom to the strains of "Polonaise" in A Flat Major, composed for and dedicated to the 1932-33 debutantes by Guido Negri, popular and genial manager of the club and a gifted musician. The president, Miss Frances Boykin, led the line of march, accompanied by Wilbur Glenn and Doc Willis, and was followed in white chiffon velvet, the bodice beaded in crystal design. Miss Fort Scott Meador's costume was of pink chiffon velvet trimmed with ermine and she had as escorts Norman Ramsey and Arch Avery; Miss Charlotte King wore white satin, the shoulder straps of the gown being beaded in rhinestones, and she was accompanied by Jack Tway and Harvey Stoner; Miss May Latimer was attired in white flat crepe with capelet and sleeves of flat sequins and she was accompanied by Burnham McGeehe and F. M. Bird; Miss Jean Gerns wore lavender velvet trimmed with gray fox fur, and Philip Alston Jr. and Emerson Gardner were her escorts; Miss Nancy Keeler's gown was of lavender crepe, trimmed with royal purple velvet, and she had as escorts Frank Nash and Henry Green; Miss Patti Porter wore turquoise blue crepe, bodice being embroidered in crystal beads, and she was accompanied by Gus Ashcraft and Frank Edmondson; Miss Elizabeth Walker wore a gown in crimson chiffon velvet, trimmed with crystal beads, and she was escorted by Rufus Caldwell and Phil de LaPorte; Miss Gertrude Askew's gown was of colored satin trimmed with burgundy colored velvet roses, and J. B. Sojourner and Stone Bush were her escorts; Miss Emily Ingalls was escorted in gold tulle velvet trimmed with gold sequins, and she was accompanied by Arthur Tufts and Claude Buchanan Jr.; Miss Mary Meador Goldsmith was escorted in white lace posed over white satin and trimmed with white fox fur, and James Calhoun and Edwin Sterne were her escorts; Miss Josephine Crawford's gown was of white chiffon velvet, and featured a short train, and Joe Boland and Casper Johnson were her escorts; Miss Marjorie Calhoun was escorted in ivory colored crepe offset by a belt of green beads and she was accompanied by William Ward Jr. and Carroll Latimer; Miss Liza Tway was attired in white lace veiling white satin and she was escorted by Bill Derry and Ray Mitchell; Miss Emily Walker's costume was of pink chalk crepe trimmed with rhinestones, and she was accompanied by Graham George and Edgar Neely Jr.; Miss Constance Adams wore a gown of orange satin, the bodice fashioned of orange pebble crepe to match and trimmed with satin flowers, and James Campbell and Joe High Williams were her escorts; Miss Sue Noble's gown was of white satin, the only ornament being a sapphire buckle outlined in rhinestones which fastened the belt, and she was escorted by Lieutenant George Crosey, Douglas McNaught, United States Army; Miss Mary Adair Howell was escorted in burnt apricot pebble satin, and Walter James and Andy Champion were her escorts; Miss Suzanne Bollen wore a gown of white chiffon with burgundy-colored velvet flowers, and she was accompanied by Frank Davis and Jim Frazier; Miss Eleanor Selden wore a gown of white shantung satin embroidered with silver beads on the girdle and the shoulder straps, and her escorts were George Walsh and Bob Wood; Miss Sally Spaulding's gown was of blue pebble crepe and John Moonie and Brannon Lesene were her escorts; Miss Caroline Selden wore a gown of red crepe trimmed with red velvet roses and William Shedd and Alan Post were her escorts; Miss Barbara Lowe wore a gown of white broadcloth trimmed with white fur and she was escorted by Cobb Torrance and Seaborn Hawkins; Miss Teresa Hanger's gown was of white chiffon velvet trimmed with white ermine and she was accompanied by Waldo Jones and Ed Solomon.

Each of the fair debutantes wore graceful sprays of orchids fastened to their shoulders, and she was wearing a colorful note to their costumes.

Directors' Table.
Seated at the club's directors' table were Dr. and Mrs. Floyd McRae, Dr. and Mrs. William Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Troutman, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Atkinson and Dr. Leroy Childs, and the club's past presidents and their wives, including Senator John C. Oden and Mrs. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dargan, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Atkinson and Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Childs.

Gleaned From the Notebook of Women's Division of Atlanta Community Chest

BY JANE HILLINGDON.

The women's committee of the Community Chest today exemplifies the famous Shakespearean words, words which the poet put into the mouth of a woman. This quality is not confined to the members of the women's committee, but to all the women in Atlanta, women who are knowing and heeding the call of dire distress; women who so grateful that actual need hasn't touched their loved ones, are eager to share their holdings with those whose faces are lined by hunger, whose bodies are shivered with cold. They say again and again with Portia:

The quality of mercy is not strained.
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath: it is twice blest;
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes:
Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throne monarch better than his crown;
His scepter shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Which but the sword does represent;
But mercy is above this scepter'd sway;
It is enthroned in the heart of kings,
It is an attribute to God himself,
And earthly power doth show like God's,
When mercy seasons justice.

Mrs. John Slaton Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Will Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith formed a party.

Dan Conklin and Charles Tuller Jr. were hosts to a party of young people. Covers were placed for Mrs. Waldo Unsworth, of New Orleans; Miss Virginia Courts, Miss Virginia Torrance, Miss Frances Spaulding, Walker Cowles, Gerald Caraker, Robert Bryan, Mr. Conklin and Mr. Tuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Jones, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Treasder, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crum, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strickland Jr. were together.

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Selden and Mr. and Mrs. H. Ewing Dean dined together.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Boykin, Mrs. R. H. Bennett and Mr. Roy Campbell of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Clara Lowe, Mrs. Lester Shivers, J. O. Pearson, L. W. McCullough and Harlowe Barnett formed a congenial group.

Mrs. Charles M. LeRoux, Mr. and Mrs. William Akers, Dr. and Mrs. Klette Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Forman were together.

Dr. and Mrs. Carter Smith, Miss Virginia Owens, of Albany; Miss Mary Welborn, Miss Ida New, Mr. and Mrs. George Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carlson were together.

Southern Bell Club Meets This Evening

Mrs. E. Marvin Underwood, president of the Y. W. C. A., will speak at the Southern Bell Club, which meets this evening at 6 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. clubrooms, at 37 Auburn avenue. "Our Changing Attitudes" is the topic chosen by Mrs. Underwood for the devotional service held immediately after club supper. The council of the Southern Bell Club, responsible for planning program and creating interest, is composed of Miss Reggie Sue Daniel, Miss Thelma Cobb, Mrs. Palmer Wood, Mrs. Mae Withers, Miss Vera Jones, Peggy Lunsell, Willie Thompson, Lucille Crucible, Margaret Moss, Sara Terrell, Lois Foster, Florence Miller and Mrs. Lucille Kelly.

The contract bridge class is conducted by Alonzo L. Johnson, who uses an expert system of charts and blackboard figures. Other classes include swimming, by Mrs. C. E. Drummond; the chorus trained by Edgar H. Howerton, of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, each Thursday evening is sponsored by the Business Girls' League, but is open to any club girl in the Y who wishes to join.

The worship committee of the Business Girls' League meets November 6 to study principles of worship and worship themes to be incorporated in devotional services and programs. Miss Thelma Towns is program chairman and assisting her with the religious instruction is Miss Helen Hillman Barrow and representatives from the Southern Bell Club. Plans are under way for the formation of a younger business girls' club in the Y, and Miss Ethel Moore, chairman, will announce definite plans later.

Meeting last Tuesday in their clubrooms, 37 Auburn avenue, to reorganize and plan an interesting recreation program, the Clover Club members voted to meet regularly the third Tuesday in each month. With Miss Vista Black as the capable president, new members will be added and lively entertainment will feature each meeting.

The Clover Club members of the leading business and professional women of the city, including Miss Black, Misses Anna Wooten, Orgia Skinner, Ada Booth, Ethel Holbrook, Elizabeth Burke, Annie L. Irwin, Cora L. Jessy, Idella Bellah, Mary Poole, Dora Gage, Elizabeth Ivey, Bernice Rae, Lucy Morris and Florence Poole.

An attractive folder in autumn colors of brown and buff, issued by the Business Girls' department, invites business girls from all over the city to share the "Recreation, Inspiration, Information and Aspiration" now enjoyed by Y. girls. It lists the five Y. Business Girls' clubs and describes classes and recreation offered. Miss Mamie Williams, chairman of publicity for the Business Girls' committee, planned the folder, with the assistance of Miss Flora Hatcher, Business Girls' secretary.

Sales Increase

Frigidaire's household unit sales in September were 13 per cent above those for August. H. W. Newell, vice president in charge of sales (shown above), said Monday in Atlanta. "The business is doing very well," said J. J. Nance, manager of the sales planning division. He was here to conduct one of a series of seven sales meetings throughout the country. J. J. Nance is one of the youngest major sales executives in the General Motors organization.

MUST WOMEN SUFFER?

Is it their lot to suffer cramps and backaches every month? Certainly not. The tonic effect of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has ended all that for many thousands of women.

Mrs. Schnepfer's case is typical. She was always sickly. Tired. Gloomy. "Now," she says, "everywhere I go people tell me how much better I look. I feel like dancing for joy all the time."

 whelmed by a stock loss

market swept empty of selling rush in wheat and rye today of buyers, and the history of low prices.

Before the day ended, however, the new record-breaking of values, the third within four years, had been practically conquered by rain.

Wheat closed nervous at precisely the same as Saturday's finish to 3-1/2¢, a decline after having fallen December contracts 43 1-8 cents for delivery pulled down by every future less, slashing in twin the start of a dollar a bushel. Corn closed at a shade decline to 5-8 higher, oats unchanged to 1-8 higher, and provisions unchanged to a set-back of 2 cents.

Tumbling of breadstuff prices came fast as soon as business began, and the famous Roman coliseum signal of thumbs down appeared to onlookers but little less fateful today than in the time of the Caesars. The thumbs down signal today, though, dict but merely a method by which excited brokers crowded on the top edge of the wheat pit communicated to their telephone operators the fact that prices were in a new collapse.

Corn and oats were stented by possibilities of action to bring about emergency rail rates for the export of corn.

Provisions were eased a little by cheapness of corn and other feed.

COMMITTEES ACT FOR PERU HOLDERS

A constructive development designed to safeguard the interests of holders of foreign bonds was revealed last night with the announcement that committees to act for the holders of about $87,000,000 aggregate par value dollar bonds and $61,958,200 of sterling bonds of the Republic of Peru outstanding at the present time. William Phillips, formerly United States ambassador to Belgium, heads the committee which will represent holders of Peruvian national loan 6 percent external sinking fund gold bonds, first and second series, due December 1, 1960, and October 1, 1961.

22 William street, is secretary of the committee. The other committee is headed by James R. Sheffield, formerly United States ambassador to Mexico. Jesse Knight, 63 street, is secretary of the committee.

Since the committees believe there is little prospect of a permanent settlement at this time that be acceptable to bondholders are not calling for deposits of now. This procedure is particularly favorable to bondholders the marketability of their secu-
